

Job
אֵיּוֹב (ē-yōv)

Job
H347
Derivation: from H340; hated (i.e. persecuted);

H340 (primitive root)
Exo 23:22 “...then I will be an enemy^{H340}...”

Job 33:10b
...he counteth me for his enemy

- Job’s name and it’s meaning in Hebrew.

Job 1:1
There was a man in the land of Uz^{H5780}, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil.

- Job lived in the land of Uz.

Job 1:3
His substance also was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, and a very great household; so that this man was the greatest of all the men^{H1121} of the east^{H6924}.

- Job was of the “men of the east”.
- H1121 is translated elsewhere as: children, sons, daughters, people (and more).

Genesis 29:1
Then Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people^{H1121} of the east^{H6924}.

- Jacob goes to Laban the Syrian; Haran or very near it.
- “people of the east” and “men of the east” are exactly the same phrase in Hebrew (H1121 H6924).

The first time the phrase “of the east” appears is Genesis 10:30 speaking of the sons of Shem:

Genesis 10:30
And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar a mount of the east.

And the first time the phrase “east country” appears is in Genesis 25:

Genesis 25:1,2,6
¹ Then again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah.
² And she bare him Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah^{H7744}.
⁶ But unto the sons of the concubines, which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and sent them away from Isaac his son, while he yet lived, eastward^{H6924}, unto the east country^{H6924}.

- Shuah (H7744) was among the sons that were sent into the east country (see below).

Genesis 46:13 And the sons of Issachar; Tola, and Phuvah, and Job^{H3102}, and Shimron. H3102 → (a form of) → H3103 → (derived from) → H2980
1 Chronicles 7:1 Now the sons of Issachar were, Tola, and Puah, Jashub^{H3437}, and Shimron, four. H3437 → (derived from) → H7725
Numbers 26:23-25 ²³ Of the sons of Issachar after their families: of Tola, the family of the Tolaites: of Pua, the family of the Punites: ²⁴ Of Jashub^{H3437}, the family of the Jashubites^{H3432}: of Shimron, the family of the Shimronites. ²⁵ These are the families of Issachar according to those that were numbered of them, threescore and four thousand and three hundred. H3432 → (patronymic from) → H3437
Job 1:1 There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job^{H347}; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil. H347 → (derived from) → H340

- While Job the son of Issachar may even look like the same name it is not even closely related in Hebrew. Both names do not come from the same primitive root and they are not in the same cognate group so even though they appear the same in English they are obviously different men.

Job 1:5

And it was so, when the days of their feasting were gone about, that Job sent and sanctified them, and rose up early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all: for Job said, It may be that my sons have sinned, and cursed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually.

- Noah (Gen 8:20) and Abraham (Gen 22) did the same thing (offered burnt offerings) and they both lived before the law was given.
- Job acts as the priest for his family but so did Abraham so just like in the new testament that was likely the custom outside of the covenant law.

Job 42:13-15

¹³ He had also seven sons and three daughters.

¹⁴ And he called the name of the first, Jemima; and the name of the second, Kezia; and the name of the third, Keren-happuch.

¹⁵ And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren.

- Numbers 27:1-11
 - It was not the Hebrew custom to give inheritance to the daughters: thus Moses had to bring their case to the LORD when such an occasion arose. It was at that point in time when God gave them his statutes (the “laws of inheritance”) in Numbers 27:8-11. The stipulation was “if a man die, and have no son”.
- Job's custom was to give inheritance to his daughters which is clearly different from the Israelite custom.

Job 31:11

For this is an heinous crime^{H2154}; yea, it is an iniquity to be punished by the judges^{H6414}.

- Speaking of adultery, Job's assessment is that it is a crime that should be punished by the judges.
 - Interestingly, H6414 shows up only three times total.
 - Exodus 21:22: “as the judges”
 - Deuteronomy 32:31: “themselves being judges”
- H2154 is translated elsewhere as: wickedness, lewdness, and mischief (and “my purposes” in Job 17:11).
- Abram, Sarai, and Pharaoh.
 - Pharaoh's house is greatly plagued for even considering to take Sarai to wife and when the truth is found out he is offended and sends Abram, Sarai and probably all the gifts that he gave to them away.
- Abraham, Sarah, and Abimelech king of Gerar
 - The punishment from God for adultery was death (Genesis 20:3) very roughly 430 years before the law was given and Abimelech king of Gerar was not surprised or offended of God's judgment.
- Isaac, Rebekah, Abimelech king of Gerar
 - Abimelech was greatly offended when he found out the truth and Abimelech decreed to his people (Gerar; Philistines) that anyone that touches Isaac or Rebekah would be put to death.
- Joseph, in Egypt, is imprisoned for at least two years for being accused of attempted adultery.
- Samson destroys a significant portion of the Philistines food supply for his wife being given to another (Judges 15).

Between Job, his three friends, and Elihu, God's covenant name Yehovah given in Exodus 3:15 (LORD H3068) is spoken exactly four times and they are all by Job (Job 1:21, 12:9). Perhaps because none of Job's friends or Elihu knew the “personal” name of God? Which is even more odd when considering that Elihu's speech was not rebuked by God in the end.

Job repeatedly mentions that there is no mediator between him and God (Job 9:33 “daysman” H3198). The Israelites were commanded to go to the Levites or the judges (sometimes translated from H430) to mediate between them and God.

“sitting sheva” or mourning seven days is a shared custom (Genesis 50:10, Job 2:13).

Job 1:15
And the Sabeans^{H7614} fell upon them, and took them away; yea, they have slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

Job 6:19
The troops of Tema^{H8485} looked, the companies of Sheba^{H7614} waited for them.

The Sabeans were descendants of both Seba and Sheba the sons of Cush the son of Ham. Thus, the Sabeans did not exist before that time. Using Usher’s timeline the Sabeans could not have existed before 2265BC. The earliest known archaeological evidence for the Sabeans as a people group are dated to 1200BC. The earliest known Sabeian monumental inscriptions are dated to 800BC. 450BC-100BC the word “Saba” appears in Greek and Roman sources. 25BC - The Roman prefect Aelius Gallus leads a failed military expedition against Saba, aiming to control the incense trade. 275AD - The Himyarite Kingdom finally conquers and absorbs the Sabeian kingdom, ending its political independence.

Those events place a time period on the events of Job 1 of 2265BC → 275AD.

There is only one man named Tema^{H8485} in the Bible and that is Tema the son of Ishmael son of Abaham & Hagar. Tema would have been of reproductive age around 1855BC so the Temanites didn’t exist before then. NOTE: Eliphaz, one of Job’s friends, was a Temanite but he was not a son of Tema (see below for details on Eliphaz the Temanite^{H8489}). Both Temani^{H8489} and Temanite(s)^{H8489} in the Bible always refers to descendants of Teman the son of Eliphaz the son of Esau.

Job 1:17
While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, The Chaldeans^{H3778} made out three bands, and fell upon the camels, and have carried them away, yea, and slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

Genesis 11:28 (Haran: Abraham’s brother; Lot’s father)
And Haran died before his father Terah in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldees^{H3778}.

- Chaldees → (patronymic from) → H3777 (Chesed son of Nahor brother of Abraham: Gen 22:20-22).

Using the Masoretic Text and Usher’s timeline Chesed is estimated to have been born around 1890BC.

The Chaldeans are first mentioned in Assyrian records around 878BC.

Chaldean rule ended around 539BC when Cyrus the Great of Persia conquered the city of Babylon. This began their assimilation into Persian, Greek, and then finally Parthian culture and the last cuneiform tablets that mention the Chaldeans are dated from around 75AD.

Assuming that “Chaldeans” in the book of Job is not a prolepsis this places a time period on the events of the Job 1 of 1890BC → 539BC.

The average lifespan around Abraham’s time was 174 years.

Moses lived around 1571BC-1451BC.

Job’s “three friends” (Job 2:11, 32:3, 42:7,9) (Note that Elihu is not ever called one of the three friends)

Job 2:11

Now when Job's three friends heard of all this evil that was come upon him, they came every one from his own place^{H4725}; Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they had made an appointment together to come to mourn with him and to comfort him.

- H4725 (translated elsewhere as): home (1Sa 2:20, 2Ch 25:10), country (Gen 29:26), room (Gen 24:23,25,31), space (1Sa 26:13), in the open (Job 34:26).
- 1 Samuel 26:13 gives us a relative distance: “an hill afar off” or “a great space being between them”
 - This could be someone close (a relative) or someone afar off of another nation.

Job 42:7 (cf. v9)

And it was so, that after the LORD had spoken these words unto Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath.

Bildad the Shuhite^{H7747}

H7747 → patronymic from H7744 (a descendant of Shuah, the son of Abraham & Keturah)

- Shuah reproductive age: ~1836BC

Eliphaz the Temanite^{H8489}

H8489 → patronymic from H8487 (a descendant of Teman son of Eliphaz, the son of Esau & Adah)

- Since this Eliphaz is called a Temanite he cannot be the same Eliphaz that was the father of Teman.
- Teman reproductive age: ~1776BC

Zophar the Naamathite^{H5284}

H5284 → patrial from a place corresponding in name (but not identical) with H5297. An inhabitant of Naamah.

H5297 (pleasantness) → feminine of H5277

Numbers 13:6

Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

1 Chronicles 4:15 (cf. Joshua 15:20,41)

And the sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam^{H5277}: and the sons of Elah, even Kenaz.

- Naam would have been roughly in his late 50’s (if Caleb were ~30 when Naam was born) and then the founding of Naamah would not have occurred until around 1440-1430BC (after the conquest and distribution of inheritance).
- It appears that Zophar was an inhabitant of that town named Naamah which was named after the man Naam son of Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
- Note that Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Caleb the son of Hezron (1 Chronicles 2:9) are not the same man. According to the KJV translators Caleb the son of Jephunneh lived seven generations later.

Job 32:2

Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu^{H453} the son of Barachel^{H1292} the Buzite^{H940}, of the kindred^{H4940} of Ram^{H7410}: against Job was his wrath kindled, because he justified himself rather than God.

Job 32:4

Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken, because they were elder than he.

Job 32:6

And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid, and durst not shew you mine opinion.

- “very old” (~70-100 years; or roughly one generation: Gen 15:13,16)
 - (1Sa 2:22) Eli: 98 years old (1Sa 4:15-18)
 - (1Ki 1:15) David: ~70 years old (1Ki 2:11)

Kindred

H4940

Gen 8:19 “kinds” (kind)

Gen 10:5 “families” (family)

Gen 12:1, 24:7,40, 31:3 “father’s house”

Buzite

H940 → patronymic from H938

H938 → Buz (Lot’s cousin), the name of a son of Nahor (Abraham’s sibling, not his grandfather) & Milcah (Gen 22:20,21); and a son of Gad (1Ch 5:11,14).

Ram

H7410

Ram the son of Hezron (Ruth 4:19, 1Ch 2:9,10)

Ram the son of Jerahmeel the son of Hezron (1Ch 2:25:27)

Barachel (God has blessed)

H1292 → (no other definitive connection to men in Scripture)

- Which Buz?
 - Nahor’s descendants generally settled in the areas known as Aram (Syria) and Mesopotamia (east of Aram).
 - Gen 22:21 Kemuel (brother to Buz) the father of “Aram” (H758) which is the same as
 - Syria(ns) (Jdg 10:6, 2Sa 8:5, etc.)
 - Syria-damascus (1Ch 18:6)
 - Syria-maachah (1Ch 19:6).
 - Gen 24:10 Abraham’s servant is sent to get a wife for his son Isaac in “Mesopotamia” (H763) which is the same as
 - Aham-naharaim (Psalm 50:1)
 - Deu 26:5 Jacob is called a “Syrian” because he married two of his uncle Laban the Syrian’s daughters and sojourned in Syria for a significant time period (H761) → patrial from H758, which is the same as
 - Aramitess (1Ch 7:14) which is the feminine of Aramite.
 - Laban the “Syrian” H761 (Gen 31:20,24)
 - The Gadites settled generally the area east of the Jordan (southern portion) in the land that was previously ruled by Sihon king of the Amorites (generally south of East Manasseh & north of Reuben). Og was much farther to the north in what would become the territory of East Manasseh.
 - Which Ram?
 - Both are sons of Hezron the son of Pharez the son of Judah.
- In order for this Buzite (Syrian) to be of the kindred of either Ram that we know of, Barachel’s ancestry would have to include a mix of both Syrians and Judahites.
 - In order for this Buzite (Gadite) to be of the kindred of either Ram that we know of, Barachel’s ancestry would have to include a mix of both Gadites and Judahites.

Either one of those need confirmed somehow.

Genesis 10:22-23,30

²² The children of Shem; Elam, and Asshur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram^{H758}. ²³ And the children of Aram^{H758}; Uz^{H5780}, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash. ³⁰ And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar a mount of the east.

1 Chronicles 1:17

The sons of Shem; Elam, and Asshur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram^{H758}, and Uz^{H5780}, and Hul, and Gether, and Meshech.

Genesis 22:20-21

²⁰ And it came to pass after these things, that it was told Abraham, saying, Behold, Milcah, she hath also born children unto thy brother Nahor; ²¹ Huz^{H5780} his firstborn, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram,

Genesis 36:19-28

¹⁹ These are the sons of Esau, who is Edom, and these are their dukes. ²⁰ These are the sons of Seir the Horite, who inhabited the land; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, ²¹ And Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan: these are the dukes of the Horites, the children of Seir in the land of Edom. ²² And the children of Lotan were Hori and Hemam; and Lotan's sister was Timna. ²³ And the children of Shobal were these; Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepho, and Onam. ²⁴ And these are the children of Zibeon; both Ajah, and Anah: this was that Anah that found the mules in the wilderness, as he fed the asses of Zibeon his father. ²⁵ And the children of Anah were these; Dishon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah. ²⁶ And these are the children of Dishon; Hemdan, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran. ²⁷ The children of Ezer are these; Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Akan. ²⁸ The children of Dishan are these; Uz^{H5780}, and Aran.

1 Chronicles 1:38-42

³⁸ And the sons of Seir; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, and Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan. ³⁹ And the sons of Lotan; Hori, and Homam: and Timna was Lotan's sister. ⁴⁰ The sons of Shobal; Alian, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shephi, and Onam. And the sons of Zibeon; Aiah, and Anah. ⁴¹ The sons of Anah; Dishon. And the sons of Dishon; Amram, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran. ⁴² The sons of Ezer; Bilhan, and Zavan, and Jakan. The sons of Dishan; Uz^{H5780}, and Aran.

Jeremiah 25:20-21 (a place separate from Edom)

²⁰ And all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philistines, and Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod, ²¹ Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon,

Lamentations 4:21-22 (the Edomites move into the land of Uz) (Edom's judgment will follow Jerusalem's)

²¹ Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwellest in the land of Uz; the cup also shall pass through unto thee: thou shalt be drunken, and shalt make thyself naked. ²² The punishment of thine iniquity is accomplished, O daughter of Zion; he will no more carry thee away into captivity: he will visit thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom; he will discover thy sins.

“daughter of Edom” (as opposed to daughter of Zion which is the city of David & Jerusalem):

Isaiah 63:1 (likely Bozrah; (cf. Jer 49:7,8: Teman; Dedan) capital during the period of the Babylonian conquest of Jerusalem)

Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatness of his strength? I that speak in righteousness, mighty to save.

Jeremiah 49:13

For I have sworn by myself, saith the LORD, that Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes.

- Aram H758 is the same as “Syrian” (see notes above on Gen 22:21)
- Uz and Huz are exactly the same Hebrew word H5780
- The KJV translators chose a Midianite ancestry for Job and rejected the assertion that he was an Edomite king.
- I still have not been able to find proof of how they made that connection.

Candidates for the “land of Uz”

- Uz son of Aram the son of Shem
 - ~8 generations before Abraham
 - Syria
- Huz firstborn son of Nahor the son of Shem
 - ~1 generation after Abraham
 - Syria
- Uz son of Dishan the son of Seir the Horite
 - ~1 generation after Abraham
 - Mount Seir (~Edom)

The time period of Job based on his estimated age

Estimating Job's age:

- Job was called “very old” by Elihu (~70-100 years older than Elihu) after Job already had 10 children, and after the events of Job 1-31.
- Elihu's age is unknown but let's try to estimate a conservative 20 years old at the time that he called Job “very old”.
 - At the same time he called himself “young” (Job 32:6).
- Job had 10 more children in his latter end (after he was called “very old”)
 - At a minimum of 10 months between children (9 months gestation, 1 month recovery) it takes a minimum of 8.3 years to produce 10 children.
- Job 42:16 states “after this” (after the second set of 10 children) that Job lived 140 years.
- Job lived long enough “after this” to see his children to the fourth generation.
 - If each of his children, and his children's children to the third generation had their first child when they were 11 years of age that adds up to a minimum of 33 years.
 - If the average age of puberty were the same in Job's day, they couldn't have started having children until around age 11.

Adding all of the minimum calculations up we arrive at $(70+20+8.3+140+33) = 271.3$ years.

The average lifespan of any human recorded that lived any amount of time before the flood (excluding Enoch) is 881 years.

Shem's son Arphaxad is the first recorded lifespan that lived entirely after the flood (same generation as Aram; one generation before Uz). The average lifespan between Arphaxad (one generation before Uz) and Salah (one generation after Uz) is 436 years (1Ch 1:17,18, Luk 3:36).

Eber is the last recorded man to live in excess of 239 years (464).

From Peleg (one generation after Eber) to Ishmael (one generation after Abraham) the average lifespan is 197 years. Esau's age at death is not recorded but the average of Abraham, Ishmael, and Isaac is 164 years (175, 137, 180).

The average lifespan from Arphaxad to Terah is 299.5 years with a sharp drop off occurring after Eber (from 464 to 239 years or below directly after him). No one after Eber is recorded that lived more than 239 years. Eber was the second generation after Uz son of Aram son of Shem.

This lifespan average from Eber to Peleg is the perfect range wherein both Uz son of Aram son of Shem (generation wise) and Job (lifespan average) fit.

Based on our minimum calculations, and average lifespans that are recorded, Job lived long before the descendants of Abraham unless he had an extraordinarily long lifespan for his time period (eg. Jehoiada; 81 years more than the average of the 7 men both before and after him). Since the land in which Job lived was called “the land of Uz” that land was already established by a man named Uz before the events of Job's life occurred.

There's only one candidate for the “land of Uz” that even comes close to this time period and that would be Uz son of Aram the son of Shem which lived ~8 generations before Abraham. The land of Aram would later be called Syria. It is also otherwise referred to as Aham-naharaim and Mesopotamia. Aham-naharaim & Padan-aram appear to be roughly the same geographical region.

Refer to the other article “Recorded life spans in the Bible” for the data and chart used for these calculations.

And Paddan-aram (Paddan)

Chart from “Recorded life spans in the Bible”

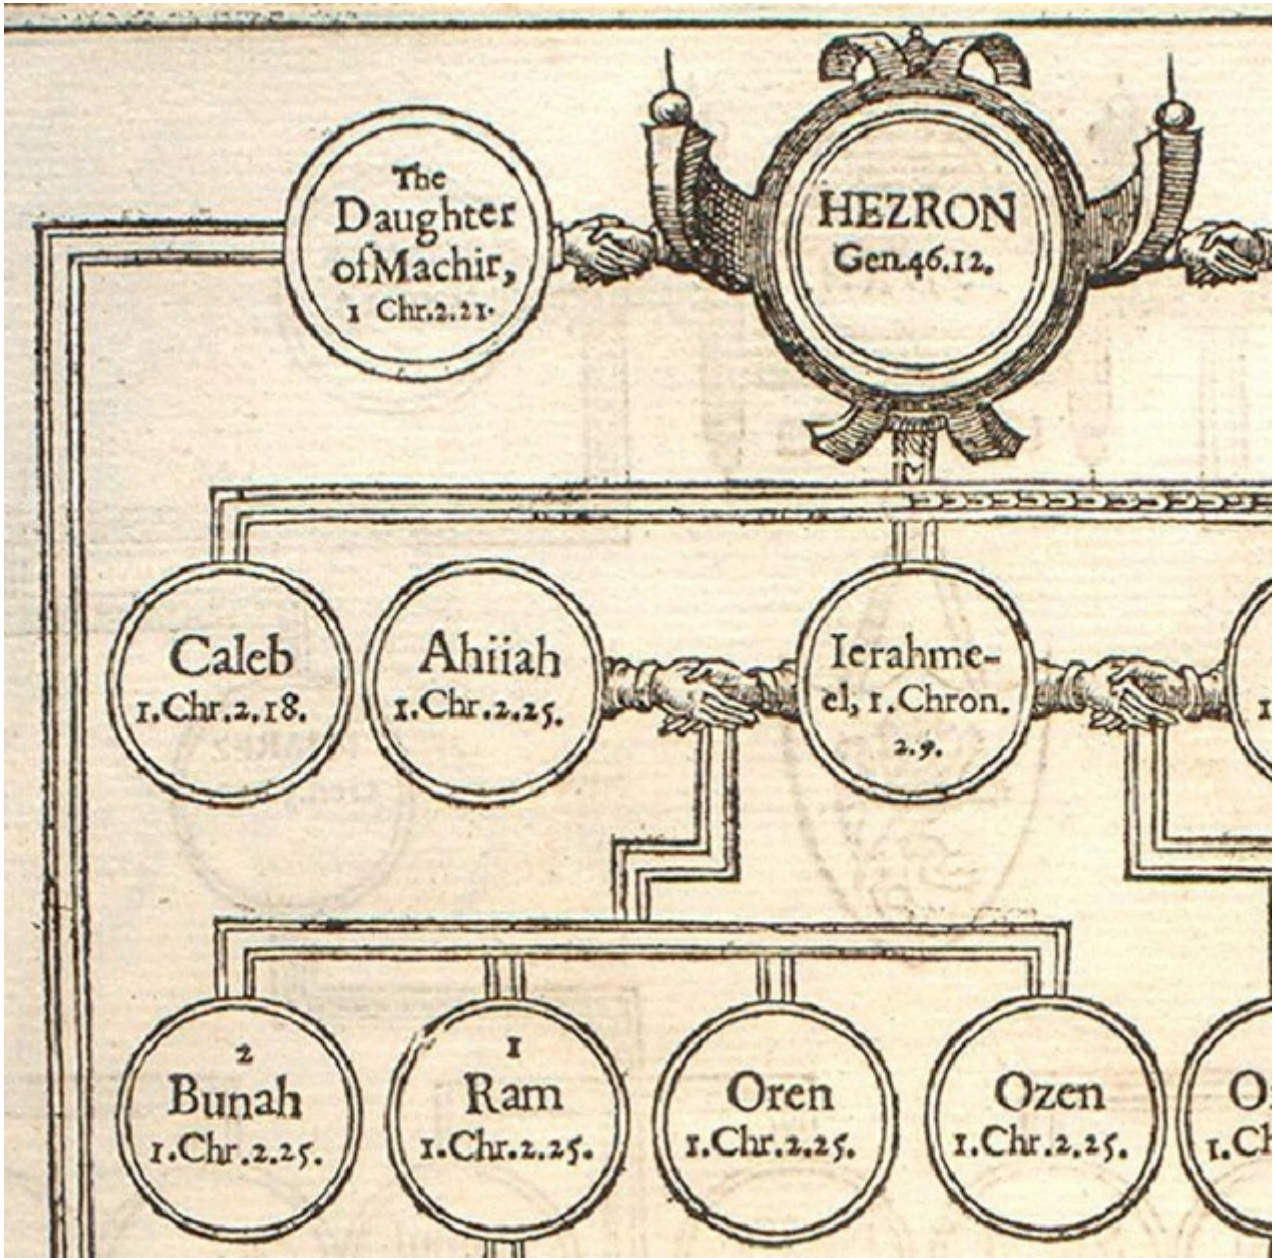

The KJV translators on page 7 of the first edition 1611 Holy Bible placed Job as a descendant of Midian son of Abraham & Keturah.

The average lifespan from Abraham to the next 6 men recorded is 145 years which is over 100 years or more below conservative estimates for Job’s lifespan. Because of Jehoida, who lived 81 years more than the average of the 7 men both before and after him, and God’s description of Job, it yet remains a possibility that Job had an unusually high lifespan relative to the men that lived during his time. But, looking at what we are given, it seems more likely that he simply lived at a much earlier time than even Abraham

Lest we believe that the KJV translator’s charts are free from error, their charts depict Ahijah^{H281} as the wife of Jerahmeel son of Hezron (H281 is a masculine noun that means “brother of Jah”):

1 Chronicles 2:25
And the sons of Jerahmeel the firstborn of Hezron were, Ram the firstborn, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah.

Also, the KJV translators were necessarily aware of the Septuagint’s assertion that Job was a descendant of Esau and a king in the land of Edom and they rejected that notion.

The average lifespan of all men recorded starting at Jacob and ending at Eliakim is a paltry 77 years. If Job lived even during the founding of Edom (which Edom didn’t even inhabit any land of any Uz yet: Jeremiah 25:20-21) then his lifespan was more than double all the men around him. Which, even though it seems a befitting blessing from God it simply doesn’t line up with what we are given.

Judges 6:3,33

³ And so it was, when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, even they came up against them;

³³ Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the children of the east were gathered together, and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

Judges 7:12

And the Midianites and the Amalekites and all the children of the east lay along in the valley like grasshoppers for multitude; and their camels were without number, as the sand by the sea side for multitude.

Judges 8:10

Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor*, and their hosts with them, about fifteen thousand men, all that were left of all the hosts of the children of the east: for there fell an hundred and twenty thousand men that drew sword.

* according to Biblemapper, Karkor is supposed (guessed) to be ~127 miles due east of En-gedi.

- The children of the east aside from Midian (Abraham & Keturah) and Amalek (Edom) that were sent to the east country in Genesis 25:1-6 are:
 - Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Ishbak, and Shuah.
 - Sheba, Dedan.
 - Asshurim, Letushim, Leummim.
 - An “im” suffix denotes plurality

The Septuagint

The Septuagint, often abbreviated LXX (roman numeral for 70) is a Greek translation of the Hebrew old testament that began around the 3rd century BC in Alexandria, Egypt to serve the Jewish community that no longer spoke Hebrew but instead Greek. According to tradition the translation was commissioned by the Greek Pharaoh of Egypt, Ptolemy II Philadelphus (285-247 BC). According to tradition it is the Bible of the earliest Christians and the “vast majority of Old Testament quotations in the New Testament are taken directly from the Septuagint”.

Both of these traditions are attested to in the “Translators to the Reader” section of the first edition 1611 Holy Bible.

Excerpt from “Translators to the Reader” first edition 1611 Holy Bible (transliterated)

While God would be known only in Jacob, and have his Name great in Israel, and in none other place, while the dew lay on Gideon’s fleece only, and all the earth besides was dry; then for one and the same people, which spake all of them the language of Canaan, that is, Hebrew, one and the same original in Hebrew was sufficient. But when the fullness of time drew near, that the Sun of righteousness, the Son of God should come into the world, whom God ordained to be a reconciliation through faith in his blood, not of the Jew only, but also of the Greek, yea, of all them that were scattered abroad; then lo, it pleased the Lord to stir up the spirit of a Greek Prince (Greek for descent and language) even of Ptolome Philadelph King of Egypt, to procure the translating of the Book of God out of Hebrew into Greek. This is the translation of the Seventy Interpreters, commonly so called, which prepared the way for our Saviour among the Gentiles by written preaching, as Saint John Baptist did among the Jews by vocal. For the Grecians being desirous of learning, were not wont to suffer books of worth to lay molding in Kings Libraries, but had many of their servants, ready scribes, to copy them out, and so they were dispersed and made common. Again, the Greek tongue was well known and made familiar to most inhabitants in Asia, by reason of the conquest that there the Grecians had made, as also by the Colonies, which thither they had sent. For the same causes also it was well understood in many places of Europe, yea, and of Africa too. Therefore the word of God being set forth in Greek, becommeth hereby like a candle set upon a candlestick, which giveth light to all that are in the house, or like a proclamation founded forth in the market place, which most men presently take knowledge of; and therefore that language was fittest to contain the Scriptures, both for the first Preachers of the Gospel to appeal unto for witness, and for the learners also of those times to make search and trial by. It is certain, that that Translation was not so sound and so perfect, but that it needed in many places correction; and who had been so sufficient for this work as the Apostles or Apostolic men? Yet it seemed good to the holy Ghost and to them, to take that which they found, (the same being for the greatest part true and sufficient) rather then by making a new, in that new world and green age of the Church, to expose themselves to many exceptions and cavillations, as though they made a Translation to serve their own turn, and therefore bearing witness to themselves, their witness not to be regarded. This may be supposed to be some cause, why the Translation of the Seventy was allowed to pass for currant.

The fascinating part is that the KJV translators assert that the Septuagint was both prompted by the Lord and also at the same time “needed in many places correction”. These two statements are seemingly contradictory? I don’t know enough Greek to even begin to review the validity of the real Greek Septuagint (if it even exists anymore) so we’ll look at one with an English interlinear from 1851 (Samuel Bagster & Sons ISBN: 0-310-20430-5) by Sir Lancelot C.L. Brenton which purportedly leans more towards Codex Vaticanus. Keep in mind that there is no way for us to prove which rendition of the Septuagint that the KJV translators used. They simply referred to it as the “Septuagint” and their manuscripts and notes are strangely missing (Hebrews 11:6a?).

Summary of various extant editions of the Septuagint

- Sir Lancelot C.L. Brenton (1851): The classic English translation. Based primarily on Codex Vaticanus, with a KJV-style prose. It is public domain and widely available.
- Göttingen Septuagint: The definitive academic standard. It reconstructs the oldest possible text for each book, with a massive apparatus showing all manuscript variations. A multi-volume work-in-progress.
- Rahlfs-Hanhart: The standard "handy" two-volume critical Greek text. It's a practical, single-volume compromise used by most students and translators as a base.
- NETS (2007): The modern academic standard in English. It is a direct translation of the Rahlfs-Hanhart Greek edition, aiming for scholarly precision and consistency.
- LES (2018): The "New English Translation of the Septuagint." A newer, slightly more readable scholarly translation than NETS, also based on Rahlfs-Hanhart. It is the edition used in the Orthodox Study Bible

Regardless, they spoke of it in their introduction and supposedly used it in their marginal notes (any margin note prefixed with “Gr.”) and they also believed it was the will of God to have the Hebrew scriptures translated into Greek.

16 And Job lived after his affliction a hundred and seventy years: and all the years he lived were 7 two hundred and forty: and Job saw his sons and his sons' sons, the fourth generation. 17 And Job died, an old man and full of days: and it is written that he will rise again with those whom the Lord raises up.

This man is ^δ described in the Syriac book as living in the land of Ausis, on the borders of Idumea and Arabia: and his name before was Jobab; and having taken an Arabian wife, he begot a son whose name was Eunon. And he himself was the son of his father Zare, one of the sons of Esau, and of his mother Bosorrha, so that he was the fifth from Abraam. And these were the kings who reigned in Edom, which country he also ruled over: first, Balac, the son of ζ Beor, and the name of his city was Dennaba: but after Balac, Jobab, who is called Job: and after him Asom, who was governor out of the country of Thæman: and after him Adad, the son of Barad, who destroyed Madiam in the plain of Moab; and the name of his city was Gethaim. And his friends who came to him were Eliphaz, of the children of Esau, king of the Thæmanites, Baldad sovereign of the Sauchæans, Sophar king of the Minæans.

Ἐζήσε δὲ Ἰὼβ μετὰ τὴν πληγὴν ἔτη ἑκατὸν ἐβδομήκοντα· 16 τὰ δὲ πάντα ἔτη ἔζησε, διακόσια τεσσαράκοντα· καὶ εἶδεν Ἰὼβ τοὺς υἱοὺς αὐτοῦ, καὶ τοὺς υἱοὺς τῶν υἱῶν αὐτοῦ, τετάρτην γενεάν. Καὶ ἐτελεύτησεν Ἰὼβ πρεσβύτερος, καὶ 17 πλήρης ἡμερῶν· γέγραπται δὲ, αὐτὸν πάλιν ἀναστήσεσθαι μεθ' ὧν ὁ Κύριος ἀνίστησιν.

Οὗτος ἐρμηνεύεται ἐκ τῆς Συριακῆς βίβλου, ἐν μὲν γῇ κατοικῶν τῇ Αὐσίτιδι, ἐπὶ τοῖς ὁρίοις τῆς Ἰδουμαίας καὶ Ἀραβίας· προϋπῆρχε δὲ αὐτῷ ὄνομα Ἰωβάβ· λαβὼν δὲ γυναῖκα Ἀράβισσαν, γεννᾷ υἱὸν, ᾧ ὄνομα Ἐννών· ἦν δὲ αὐτὸς πατὴρ μὲν Ζαρὲ ἐκ τῶν Ἑσαὺ υἱῶν υἱός, μητὴρ δὲ Βοσόρρας, ὥστε εἶναι αὐτὸν πέμπτον ἀπὸ Ἀβραάμ· καὶ οὗτοι οἱ βασιλεῖς οἱ βασιλεύσαντες ἐν Ἐδῶμ, ἧς καὶ αὐτὸς ἤρξε χώρας· πρῶτος Βαλὰκ ὁ τοῦ Βεὼρ, καὶ ὄνομα τῇ πόλει αὐτοῦ Δεναβά· μετὰ δὲ Βαλὰκ, Ἰωβάβ ὁ καλούμενος Ἰώβ· μετὰ δὲ τοῦτον, Ἀσὼμ ὁ ὑπάρχων ἡγεμὼν ἐκ τῆς Θαιμανίτιδος χώρας· μετὰ δὲ τοῦτον, Ἀδὰδ υἱὸς Βαραδ, ὁ ἐκκόψας Μαδιαμ ἐν τῷ πεδίῳ Μωάβ, καὶ ὄνομα τῇ πόλει αὐτοῦ Γεθαίμ· οἱ δὲ ἐλθόντες πρὸς αὐτὸν φίλοι, Ἐλιφάζ τῶν Ἑσαὺ υἱῶν Θαιμανῶν βασιλεὺς, Βαλδὰδ ὁ Σαυχαίων τύραννος, Σωφάρ ὁ Μιναίων βασιλεὺς.

β Or, piece of money stamped with that figure. q. d. pecuniam. γ Alex. 248. δ Gr. interpreted out of. ζ Alex. Semphor, i. e. Zippor.

- In v16 Job is said to have lived a total of 240 years.
 - The note “Alex. 248” means: Codex Alexandrinus (manuscript A or 02) 248 years.
- In v17 “and it is written that he will rise again with those whom the Lord raises up.” was left out.
 - The translators manuscripts were reportedly burned in the great fire of London in 1666.
 - This phrase supposedly does not appear in the Masoretic Text and that seems likely why they left it out. The Masoretic Text (or “Original Sacred Tongues”) was supposedly their primary source and other languages were secondary.

The addendum at the end of book of Job in the Septuagint may also be of interest:

This man is described in the Syriac book as living in the land of Ausis, on the borders of Idumea and Arabia: and his name before was Jobab; and having taken an Arabian wife, he begot a son whose name was Eunon. And he himself was the son of his father Zare, one of the sons of Esau, and of his mother Bosorrha, so that he was the fifth from Abraham. And these were the kings who reigned in Edom, which country he also ruled over: first, Balac, the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dennaba: but after Balac, Jobab, who is called Job: and after him Asom, who was governor out of the country of Theman: and after him Adad, the son of Barad, who destroyed Madiam in the plain of Moab; and the name of his city was Gethaim. And his friends who came to him were Eliphaz, of the children of Esau, king of the Themanites, Baldad sovereign of the Sauchæans, Sophar king of the Mineans.

In the genealogy charts of the first edition 1611 Holy Bible, the translators placed Job as a descendant of Midian the son of Abraham & Keturah. So, they obviously disagreed with the “Edom-ic” heritage of Job theory which reportedly originates from the Septuagint.

Job is not listed as one of the kings of Edom in the AV1769:

1 Chronicles 1:43-54

43 Now these are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the children of Israel; Bela the son of Beor: and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 44 And when Bela was dead, Jobab^{H3103} the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead. 45 And when Jobab^{H3103} was dead, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his stead. 46 And when Husham was dead, Hadad the son of Bedad, which smote Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Avith. 47 And when Hadad was dead, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his stead. 48 And when Samlah was dead, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his stead. 49 And when Shaul was dead, Baalhanan the son of Achbor reigned in his stead. 50 And when Baalhanan was dead, Hadad reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Pai; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. 51 Hadad died also. And the dukes of Edom were; duke Timnah, duke Aliah, duke Jetheth, 52 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon, 53 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar, 54 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram. These are the dukes of Edom.

The Septuagint: a beautiful example of a document that is firmly opposed against it's own existence.

Exodus 12:40 (AV1769) Now the sojourning of the children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. Exodus 12:40 (Septuagint) And the sojourning of the children of Israel, while they sojourned in the land of Egypt and the land of Chanaan, was four hundred and thirty years.
--

- The Septuagint includes “and the land of Chanaan” (Canaan). Selah.

1 Samuel 17:42,48-51 (Septuagint) (hereafter called “the Philistine”) ⁴⁸ And Goliath saw David, aud despised him; for he was a lad, and ruddy, with a fair countenance. ⁴⁸ And the Philistine arose and went to meet David. ⁴⁹ And David stretched out his hand to his script, and took thence a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine on his forehead, and the stone penetrated through the helmet into his forehead, and he fell upon his face to the ground. ⁵⁰ (note that says see appendix: “The following passages are supplied from the Alexandrine Text: ⁵⁰ So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and a stone, and smote the Philistine and slew him, and there was no sword in the hand of David.) ⁵¹ And David ran, and stood upon him, and took his sword, and slew him, and cut off his head: and the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, and they fled.
2 Samuel 21:19 (AV1769) And there was again a battle in Gob with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of Jaareoregim, a Bethlehemite, slew the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the staff of whose spear was like a weaver's beam. 2 Samuel 21:19 (Septuagint) And there was a battle in Rom with the Philistines; and Eleanan son of Ariorgim the Bethleemite slew Goliath the Gittite; and the staff of his spear was as a weaver’s beam.
1 Chronicles 20:5 (AV1769) And there was war again with the Philistines; and Elhanan the son of Jair slew Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose spear staff was like a weaver's beam. 1 Chronicles 20:5 (Septuagint) And there was war again with the Philistines; and Eleanan the son of Jair smote Laehmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, and the wood of his spear was as a weavers’ beam.

- The Septuagint disagrees with itself about who killed Goliath.
- 1Ch 20:5 (Septuagint)
 - Uses the indefinite singular article “a” followed by a plural possessive.
 - “slew” and “smote” are two entirely different meanings.
 - The Septuagint makes this distinction in 1Sa 17:50, so what happened in 1Ch 20:5?
 - Standing back and looking at the combined errors and contradictions within itself, it looks like Job 5:13 happened.

Genesis 6:3 (AV1769) And the LORD said, My spirit shall not always strive^{H1777} with man, for that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years. Genesis 6:4 (Septuagint) And the Lord God said, My Spirit shall certainly not remain among these men for ever, because they are flesh, but their days shall be an hundred and twenty years.

- God’s pronouncement of impending judgment (the flood) carries a very different meaning with it in the Septuagint.
 - H1777 (AV1769) is translated elsewhere as: judge, strife, contend, minister judgment, to plead.
- According to the Septuagint men are flesh not also flesh:
 - James 2:26 (AV1769) “For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.”

1 Samuel 18:19 (AV1769) But it came to pass at the time when Merab Saul's daughter should have been given to David, that she was given unto Adriel the Meholathite to wife. 1 Samuel 18:19 (Septuagint; missing from the main text: it is in the appendix which means it's from the Alexandrine Text) But it came to pass at the time when Merob Saul's daughter should have been given to David, that she was given to Israel the Mothulathite to wife.
2 Samuel 6:23 (AV1769) Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no child unto the day of her death. 2 Samuel 6:23 (Septuagint) And Melchol the daughter of Saul had no child till the day of her death.
2 Samuel 21:8 (AV1769) But the king took the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bare unto Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth; and the five sons of Michal the daughter of Saul, whom she brought up for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite: 2 Samuel 21:8 (Septuagint) And the king took the two sons of Respha the daughter of Aia, whom she bore to Saul, Hermonoi and Memphibosthe, and the five sons of Michol daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Esdriel son of Berzelli the Moulathite.

- Israel is in no way, shape, or form, a “Greek-i-fication” of Adriel. They are two entirely different names with entirely different meanings.
- According to the Septuagint it's either two different men or one man with two wildly different names (if that happens in God's word He is explicit about it eg. Jacob/Israel because He is not the author of confusion).
- Michal bore exactly zero children: 2 Samuel 6:23.
- The Septuagint was required to alter her name (instead of honoring the Hebrew) to an entirely different person in order to solve a problem that they created by misunderstanding that Michal did not bare the five sons: she brought them up ie. raised them, cared for them, and nursed them.
- The narrative is completely broken down and dispersed in the Septuagint such that we might be left wondering: why is this information even here in the first place?

Le Finale Spectaculaire or
The harlot that brought down the armies of Judah

Judges 1:18,19 (AV1769) ¹⁸ Also Judah took Gaza with the coast thereof, and Askelon with the coast thereof, and Ekron with the coast thereof. ¹⁹ And the LORD was with Judah; and he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had chariots of iron. Judges 1:18,19 (Septuagint) 18 But Judas did not inherit Gaza nor her coasts, nor Ascalon nor her coasts, nor Accaron nor her coasts, nor Azotus nor the lands around it. 19 And the Lord was with Judas, and he inherited the mountain; for they were not able to destroy the inhabitants of the valley, for * Rechab prevented them. * Heb. They had chariots of iron.

- Rachab (the Greek name for Rahab the former harlot) is the closest name to any person that lived during this time period of which it is written such that we know that they existed.
- Even more astonishing is that the correct rendition is in the “marginal” notes.
- The word “for” changes the meaning of the entire verse:
 - “They inherited the mountain because they were not able to conquer the valley because Rechab went before them”.
- What a most excellent document ... to keep us warm at night.
