

Does the phrase “the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel” refer to the book of Chronicles?

The phrase “the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel” shows up 18 times in 18 verses in 9 chapters in 2 books (source: King James Pure Bible search).

Many of the kings of Judah & Israel are mentioned in both the book of Kings (1 & 2) and the book of Chronicles (1 & 2) and so it seems logical to conclude that the Bible is referring to the book of Chronicles until we check the Bible very carefully.

1 Kings 16:25-27

²⁵ But Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all that were before him.

²⁶ For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin, to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.

²⁷ Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and his might that he shewed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

And if we check the book of Chronicles we see that Omri king of Israel is mentioned exactly one time:

2 Chronicles 22:1-3

¹ And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his stead: for the band of men that came with the Arabians to the camp had slain all the eldest. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah reigned.

² Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

³ He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his counsellor to do wickedly.

Baasha king of Israel's name is mentioned 4 times in 1 & 2 Chronicles.

I Kings 16:5:

Now the rest of the acts of Baasha, and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

II Chronicles 16:1,3,5,6

¹ In the six and thirtieth year of the reign of Asa Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah.

³ There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent thee silver and gold; go, break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.

⁵ And it came to pass, when Baasha heard it, that he left off building of Ramah, and let his work cease.

⁶ Then Asa the king took all Judah; and they carried away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha was building; and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

And by the omissions of the details that we expect to see we can safely conclude that the phrase “the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel” does not always refer to the book of Chronicles.

2 Kings 10:34

Now the rest of the acts of Jehu, and all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

2 Chronicles 22:7

And the destruction of Ahaziah was of God by coming to Joram: for when he was come, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab.

Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi is mentioned only once in the book of Chronicles.
